

I will always use ICT to communicate with others in positive, meaningful ways.

I will always communicate politely and with respect to people online. I know that sarcasm cannot always be detected online. It is possible to bully or hurt people with what I say and do on the internet. I will think about the effect that my actions and words have on other people.

I also know that I will not always agree with what people say online but that does not mean that I can stop them or use it as an excuse to be unkind to them.
